

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
January 04, 2005

Ryan Larson
407.648.0213 x105
rlarson@gamedaymanagement.com

---

Gameday Management Group Manages Transportation for the 2005 Presidential Inauguration

Orlando, FL - Gameday Management Group (GMG), a global provider of transportation solutions for sporting and special events, was recently selected to manage the transportation systems and provide a master transportation plan for the 2005 Presidential Inauguration, including surrounding events, in Washington DC January 17-21, 2005. GMG will assist and consult in the development of a secure and organized transportation system for over 2,000 friends and family of President Bush and Vice President Cheney, 50 entertainers and 4,500 staff and volunteers on a motor pool fleet of 150 sedans, 75 limos, 50 SUVs and 30 vans. The bus operations will range from 100 to 600 buses a day with multiple shuttle systems throughout the area.

“Working with the President’s Inaugural Committee is very exciting for GMG,” stated Tony Vitrano, president of GMG. “We are proud to have the knowledge of security and ability to produce an organized transportation system that is second to none in the world.”

GMG will bring a crew of 14 managers to work alongside the Washington DC Venue Transportation Managers to assist and deal with crisis management. GMG staff will also be assigned to friends and family of President Bush and Vice President Cheney. These managers will add an extra layer of security as well as ensure the transportation is efficient.

GMG will employ the Venue Transportation Operations Plan (VTOP), which is a single-source for complete, integrated planning and operations management. VTOP, which took over four years to develop, has received worldwide acclaim for its functionality and efficiency and was implemented at 15 venues for the 2002 Olympic Winter Games.

About GMG – Offering global transportation solutions for sporting and special events, GMG, is known for employing its Venue Transportation Operations Plan (VTOP). For over a decade, GMG has been offering this single-source for planning and operations management bringing simplification to the event management process. Upcoming projects include the Super Bowl and the Daytona 500. For more information about GMG, please visit the Web site at www.gamedaymanagementgroup.com.

###